An aerial photograph showing a large, dense settlement of small, rectangular buildings with light-colored roofs, likely a mining camp. The camp is situated on a reddish-brown, hilly terrain. A dirt road runs along the right side of the camp, leading towards the top right corner of the image. In the upper left, there is a smaller cluster of buildings. The surrounding area is covered in green vegetation. Text labels are overlaid on the image: 'To Yekepa' in the top right, 'Old Camp 4, 1964' in the upper center, and 'Road to the mine' on the right side. A copyright notice is at the bottom left.

Crusher and conveyor belt. Yekepa, 1967

An aerial photograph taken from a high vantage point, likely a helicopter, showing a vast Guineean savanna landscape. The foreground is dominated by the dark, silhouetted structure of the helicopter's rotor hub and blades, which frame the view. Below, the landscape is a patchwork of green and brown fields, interspersed with clusters of trees. In the distance, a range of low mountains is visible under a hazy, overcast sky. The overall tone is somewhat muted, characteristic of older film photography.
